

JOE HAULER

JH08 CAM-LOC

Joe Hauler, besides having a cool name, offers a huge line of hitch haulers. The JH08 the company sent us is a nice choice for dirt bikers. What makes the JH08 unique is the cam-lock system on the stinger. It uses a wedge method to hold the hauler steady while traveling down the road. It's the easiest system to tighten and the least likely to wear out or damage your receiver hitch. Other standouts include a high-quality finish on all the metal and the use of carriage-style bolts and square holes, making assembly a one-handed, one-tool affair for the most part. The standard ramp system works great and is perforated so it won't collect mud and debris. And the Joe Hauler was the only unit to supply cinch straps for the wheels—a little extra security and peace of mind for sure but they really helped with the forward and backward roll the ramp-style haulers can have. The kit was very complete and included everything needed for install and use except for a ramp, which will run you an extra $59.99. This is also a lightweight kit and is UPS or FedEx shippable.
